

As you are reading these lines, many websites and search engines have been updated on this very special day we are celebrating: Earth Day. For us, at Yousign, this day is a little more special because as a major player in the electronic signature market, we take our share of responsibility in protecting the environment.